

Job #2: Scoop the poo

Dogs, cats, goats, chickens... If your pet poops outside, you've got to scoop it up.

No joke. Picking up poop is NOT the best part of having a pet, but it's in the job description.

Bacteria in pet poop travels very easily in the rain, from backyards, parks, and trails to streams and storm drains. Just one dog can contaminate 12.5 million cups of water in 24 hours. Healthy kids, pets, fish. It's all connected.

So, plan ahead! Take bags with you on your dog walk and share with someone caught by surprise. Encourage your dog's BFFs to #PoopSmart. Help us prevent a Revenge of the Turds situation in Skagit County.

Poop Smart
www.poopsmart.org

Sponsored by

This project has been funded wholly or in part by the United States Environmental Protection Agency under assistance agreement PC01J18001-0 to the Washington Department of Health. The contents of this document do not necessarily reflect the views and policies of the Environmental Protection Agency, nor does mention of trade names or commercial products constitute endorsement or recommendation for use.